Vol. 9, No. 1 (January 1992)

The dynamics of pushing loads onto shelves of different heights
M. Gagnon, S. Beaugrand and M. Authier (Montréal, Québec, Canada) 1
The relationship of isometric strength to peak dynamic hand forces during submaximal weight lifting
D.D. Thompson, D.B. Chaffin, R.E. Hughes (Ann Arbor, MI, USA) and O. Evans (Carlton, Victoria, Australia) 15
Job characteristics and mental and physical well-being experienced by the operators of CNC, FMS and conventional machine tools
P. Seppälä and E. Tuominen (Helsinki, Finland) 25

Review article
The changing face of the workplace
E.W. Banister (Burnaby, BC, Canada) 37

Case studies
Ergonomic design of the diamond polishing workstation
I. Gilad and E. Messer (Haifa, Israel) 53
Comparison of manual and automated palletizing of mixed size and weight box containers
A. Mital (Cincinnati, OH, USA) 65

Instrumentation
Accuracy of a three-dimensional lumbar motion monitor for recording dynamic trunk motion characteristics
W.S. Marras, F.A. Fathallah, R.J. Miller, S.W. Davis and G.A. Mirka (Columbus, OH, USA) 75

Vol. 9, No. 2 (February 1992)

Special issue: 'Rehabilitation', edited by Shrawan Kumar

Preface
S. Kumar 93
Rehabilitation: An ergonomic dimension
S. Kumar (Edmonton, Alberta, Canada) 97
Practical application of anthropometric research in rehabilitation
E. Nowak (Warsaw, Poland) 109
Assessing variability in isokinetic strength through a range of motion
G. Weisman, A.A. Clark, L.D. Haugh and M.H. Pope (Burlington, VT, USA) 117
Physical fitness and work performance standards: A proposed approach
P. Chahal, S.W. Lee, M. Oseen, M. Singh and G. Wheeler (Edmonton, Alberta, Canada) 127
Pseudo 3D computer simulation for pathogenesis and rehabilitation of cervical spine deformity by malocclusion
S. Tsutsumi and K. Doi (Kyoto, Japan) 137
The reproducibility of the L5/S1 moment during sagitally symmetric lifting
O.D. Schipplein and G.B.J. Andersson (Chicago, IL, USA) 145
Myoelectric signal characteristics in lumbar back muscles during fatigue
T. Moritani, M. Muro and S. Oda (Kyoto, Japan) 151

Review article
Is hard work good for the back? The relationship between hard work and low back pain-related disorders
R.W. Porter (Aberdeen, UK) 157

Case study
An ergonomic survey of a hospital physical therapy department
A. Fenety and S. Kumar (Edmonton, Alberta, Canada) 161

Views on rehabilitation
An overview of human–computer interaction techniques for people with physical disabilities
G.F. Shein, J. Treviranus, N.D. Brownlow, M. Milner and P. Parnes (Toronto, Ontario, Canada) 171
Disability management in industry: A multidisciplinary model for the accommodation of workers with disabilities
D.E. Shrey and R.E. Breslin (Cincinnati, OH, USA) 183

Vol. 9, No. 3 (May 1992)

Reproducibility of carpenters' work after cold exposure
E. Hammarskjöld, K. Harms-Rhingdahl and J. Ekholm (Stockholm, Sweden) 195
Problems of human variability in work measurement
T.J. Gallwey (Limerick, Ireland) 205
Four methods for identification of most back-stressing tasks performed by nursing assistants in nursing homes
B.D. Owen (Madison, WI, USA), A. Garg (IMilwaukee, WI, USA) and R.C. Jensen (New South Wales, Australia) 213
Evaluation of handle position – Comparison of psychophysical force/endurance and biomechanical criteria
R.R. Bishu and W. Wei (Lincoln, NE, USA) 221
A quantitative investigation of lumbar and pelvic postures in standing and sitting: Interrelationships with body position and hip muscle length
R.S. Bridger, D. Orkin (Groote Schuur, South Africa) and M. Henneberg (Parktown, South Africa) 235

Review article
Recommended alert limits for perceptual motor loss in hot environments
J.D. Ramsey (Lubbock, TX, USA) and Y.G. Kwon (Kangwondo, Korea) 245

Vol. 9, No. 4 (June 1992)

The effects of arm elevation, direction of pull and speed of pull on isokinetic pull strength
S.N. Imrhan and U. Ramakrishnan (Arlington, TX, USA) 265
Use of the Analytic Hierarchy Process in ergonomic analysis
R.D. Henderson and S.P. Dutta (Windsor, Ontario, Canada) 275
A checklist for evaluating ergonomic risk factors resulting from awkward postures of the legs, trunk and neck
W.M. Keyserling, M. Brouwer and B.A. Silverstein (Ann Arbor, MI, USA) 283
Physiological cost of horizontal materials handling while seated
H. Strasser and J. Ernst (Siegen, Germany) 303
Development of a hybrid expert system for nurse shift scheduling
J.-G. Chen and T.W. Yeung (Houston, TX, USA) 315
Quantitative analysis of heart rate recovery profile during recovery from physical work
S. Nanthavanij (Newark, NJ, USA) 329
Cocontraction changes in muscular fatigue at different levels of isometric contraction
D. Gagnon (Sherbrooke, Quebec, Canada), A.B. Arsenault (Montreal, Quebec, Canada), G. Smyth (Edmundston, New Brunswick, Canada) and F. Kemp (Montreal, Quebec, Canada) 343
